

As the Coronavirus (COVID-19) situation continues to evolve, our priority remains to continue providing the best client service whilst protecting the health and safety of our people and their families.

Akambo Financial Group has put in place a full business continuity programme to make sure you can access our regular services and support regardless of circumstances. In order to protect the health and safety of our staff, we have made the decision to have most of our staff working from home. Our office will be staffed by a rostered staff timetable to handle any office logistics.

We are very fortunate that the processes and technology required to make this transition are very mature and have been in use by our staff for some time. All staff have been testing the working from home process in a staggered fashion over the past few weeks. Where it becomes difficult to conduct direct client meetings, client contact will continue via phone and where necessary via video conference call. We are confident that you should experience a business-as-usual service during this uncertain period.

These precautionary measures have been taken to minimise the risk to our staff, clients, colleagues and others. These measures are informed by guidance from the health authorities and experts, which we are monitoring closely, and we will continue to keep you up to date with any developments.

If you have any questions or need any assistance at all, please feel free to reach out to any of your regular touch points at Akambo Financial Group.

Yours sincerely

Anthony Kapetanovic
